Our club is trying to put together what we are calling a Guru Network. We would like to know if you are willing to share your knowledge with other members. This doesn't mean you have to be an expert, just knowledgeable in a particular area. Maybe you fish Munn Lake or the Deschutes River on a regular basis and would be willing to answer questions if asked. You don't have to tell anyone which rock to stand on or lily pad to bounce a fly off of, just general information like "while fishing Munn Lake in May I've had my best luck with XXX". Maybe you've been tying flies for years and are good at a special technique like spinning hair, palmering hackle or marrying feathers. Or maybe you've built rods and have suggestions that would help another quickly make a repair or start a first build. You are under no obligation to participate.

With this being said, would you be willing to share information? Yes No

If yes, what areas would you be willing to help with? Please describe the type of fishing you most commonly do. Try to include thinks like lakes with chironomids, rivers with dry flies, Steelhead with a spey rod. The more information you can provide the better. If you are a fly tyer or, please describe where you feel you could be helpful.

What can we post on our website? Please be aware that any information posted on the website will be password protected. The only people who will have access to your information will be paid club members.
